Pronouns

There are words you can use for one or more people or things. You talked or wrote about these people or things before and now you want to use another word for them. Then you use a pronoun. You use ...

- he for a man or boy.
- she for a woman or girl.
- it for a thing.
- we for two or more people, when you are one of these people.
- they for more than one thing or person.

Possessive Adjectives and Possessive 's

Possessive adjectives are words you use to show that something belongs to a person or people. Each pronoun has a possessive adjective:

I – my    you – your    he – his    she – her    it – its    we – our    they – their

You can also use 's at the end of a name or noun to say that something belongs to a person, e.g. Ahmad's computer, my mom's car.

B Read the sentences. Choose the correct option.
