Future Plans

Learning Outcome 7: Write about future plans

EXPLORING WRITTEN ENGLISH

LANGUAGE FOR WRITING Using Will and Be Going To

You use will and be going to with the base form of the verb to talk about the future.

You use be going to to talk about future plans.

They're going to study business. Then they're going to work at a big international company.

You use will to make predictions or promises, and to talk about future facts.

In 50 years, people won't drive cars. I'll call you tonight. In ten years, he'll be 30.

A Read the sentences (1–4). Match them to the descriptions (a–d).

- |   |                  |
|---|------------------|
| 1. I'll help you to write the report. _____                     | a. a future fact |

| 4. We'll leave the university when we finish our courses. _____ | d. a promise     |

B Complete the sentences with the correct form of will or be going to and the verbs in parentheses.

2. I _____ (help) you to fix your bike this evening.

5. In 50 years from now, people _____ (use) computers even more than they do now.
6. I think a lot of people _____ (come) to the event.

EDITING PRACTICE Using Apostrophes

In English, you use apostrophes (') in short forms like won't, you're and isn't. You write the apostrophe in the place where you took a letter out of the long form. For example, to make the short form of is not, you take out the letter o, so you write the apostrophe between isn and t.

C Rewrite the short forms with apostrophes.

1. wont (will not) _____      3. arent (are not) _____      5. were (we are) _____
2. youre (you are) _____      4. isnt (is not) _____
