English Language Teaching and Schools Catalogue 2018

Bringing the world to the classroom and the classroom to life
'There remains so much to explore. We live in an incredible world. So go out. Be curious.'

- Andrés Ruzo (Perspectives, Advanced)
Welcome to the National Geographic Learning English Language Teaching Catalogue 2018

What do we want our students to take out of our classes? The present continuous and a topical lexical set? The ability to navigate a tricky conversation in English? A useful structure for planning essays?

The answer, of course, is ‘All of these things’. But is that enough? What if we could get them leaving our classrooms with a sense of wonder and excitement, having learnt something they never knew about the world and the people in it, having been inspired to find out more.

The world we live in is a challenging place and we should be trying to equip our students with the tools they need to navigate, appreciate and enjoy the journey.

At National Geographic Learning we want to help you bring that world into the classroom and the classroom to life.

We hope you enjoy leafing through these pages. Maybe even you will come across something you didn’t know before!
Meet the team

You’ve all heard of National Geographic – the magazine, the channel, the explorers. Perhaps you’ve also heard that your colleagues are teaching English with materials from National Geographic.

National Geographic Learning, a part of Cengage, is a specialized publisher of materials for teachers and learners of English. To create relevant and contemporary materials for the English Language Teaching classroom, we partner with National Geographic, and with TED.

Our goal is to bring the world into your classroom, and to help you bring your classroom to life!

We believe that working alongside teachers and educational institutions is key in understanding what materials work in different markets. We have long-established relationships with universities, institutions, ministries of education and teaching staff and our local team have extensive experience in taking the time to fully understand the types of materials, content and delivery methods that will work for you and your students.

Our materials provide your students with the language and 21st century skills with extensive practical activities to enable them to become a new generation of informed global citizens. Our bespoke materials feature specially-selected National Geographic content within appropriate and relevant themes, to engage and motivate students and give them the language they need to succeed in their daily lives and beyond, whilst meeting the cultural, linguistic and educational needs of the region.
National Geographic Learning has a strong presence in the Middle East. With an office in Dubai and representatives throughout the region, we pride ourselves in understanding the needs and sensitivities of the region as well as working closely with our institutions to deliver the learning services they need.

One such example is our work with the University of Bahrain. In November 2017 we were delighted to open the National Geographic Learning Resource Center in their on-campus English Language Center.

The Resource Center is designed to allow students to further the learning and curiosity generated from their English classes. It is a space for research, self-study, discovery and further reading.

Global Citizenship and 21st Century Learning

There are certain key themes that have emerged in the ELT industry over the past years: the advance of digital in our classrooms and in our teaching, and the pressing need to develop the whole learner. What does this mean exactly? It means helping students become curious, rounded, well-informed global citizens to allow them to work, live and enjoy the modern world. That is the world of the 21st century, and the skills that have emerged as being critical to success within that world need to be addressed across education.

Our partnership with National Geographic Society puts us in the privileged position of being able to provide our students (and teachers) with truly global material that lends itself to developing those 21st century skills – such as critical thinking and digital and visual literacy. It also undoubtedly inspires learners to be more intellectually curious, culturally aware and responsible members of our global society. In addition, our recent and concurrent partnership with TED Talks progresses this mission further – giving our materials an aspirational and motivational edge that you won’t find elsewhere.

For English that truly develops skills for the 21st century you need to look no further than National Geographic Learning.
National Geographic Learning materials with TED Talks help English learners develop a voice of their own through:

- Inspiring Ideas to motivate learning
- Effective models of communication
- A focus on critical thinking
- Authentic language

Inspiring communication – inspiring learning

Each TED Talk is supported in the Student Book

The authentic language presented in TED Talks is supported by a one-of-a-kind instructional design that uses images from the TED stage to teach and reinforce key language and concepts.

The Lorikeet is a type of parrot. Parrots are very diverse but there are some traits they all share. All parrots have curved beaks and all are Zygodactyl, which means that they have four toes on each foot, two that point forwards and two that point backwards.
A three-level pre-primary course that has basic English language, literacy, numeracy and science at its core. Letters, phonics and numbers are introduced through the Pupil’s Book illustrations and pupils have the fun of finding letters and numbers hidden on the pages. The fun and colourful activity-based approach makes sure the whole child is learning and developing along with the language.

- Strong development of early Literacy and Numeracy – The syllabus is based on the United Kingdom Statutory Framework for Early Years Development Standards (EYFS).
- Phonics are presented and practised in each lesson through the audio material, topic vocabulary and phonics activities.
- Chants and songs in each lesson provide a fun way to absorb the language through a Total Physical Response approach.
- The ‘Art and Craft’ lessons allow pupils to explore and work with a range of media and materials, providing opportunities to develop motor skills and to share their ideas, thoughts and feelings.
- An online Parent’s Booklet explains the course rationale and objectives, and includes parent and child activities so that learning can continue at home and parents can be fully involved with their child’s learning.

Many lakes, especially those in the Northern Hemisphere, were created because of the most recent ice age. Around 18,000 years ago, large areas of land were covered by massive pieces of ice. These pieces of ice scrubbed the land and carved out large pits as they slowly moved along. When these glaciers melted, water filled the large depressions creating our modern-day lakes.
Our World is a seven-level primary series that brings age-appropriate National Geographic content to young learners of English through fun and fascinating information about the real world, supported by stunning National Geographic stories, images and video.

With an emphasis on universal values and the importance of being a responsible global citizen, Our World gives learners the essential language, skills and knowledge needed to understand their world – all whilst learning English!

- Cross-curricular real-world content gives learners the language they need to speak meaningfully across multiple subject areas.
- Specially created Our World Video fully integrates into the lessons, with 30 minutes of songs, games, language presentation and practice and real-world viewing for each unit.
- Easy-to-use technology reinforces and enhances the content of the Student’s Books.
- The Professional Development Programme helps teachers improve their classroom practice and get the most out of the series.

Cormorant Fishers work at dusk on the Li River in Southern China © KENNETH GIIN/National Geographic Creative
A fisherman on the Li River near Xingping, Guilin Province, China, uses cormorants to help him. The fish are attracted to the light from the lamp, and the cormorants, which have rings around their necks to prevent them from swallowing the larger fish, catch the fish and bring them to the raft. Once the fisherman has enough to feed his family the rings are removed and the birds are fed.

In the whole of the Americas, Alaska has been inhabited longer than anywhere else. One in seven Alaskan people are native, however only 38% of people were born in Alaska. 40% of the population of Alaska live in Anchorage, Alaska’s largest city.
In the days running up to the exam, students can focus intensively on eliminating mistakes that will cause them to throw away marks. The Intensive Revision Guide sensitises students to common pitfalls, then drills them in how to avoid them.

- Each lesson offers task analysis, sample questions, tips and tactics, and skills-building exercises.
- Separate vocabulary lessons deal with the common lexical features and topics of the IELTS reading passage types and listening sections.
- Engaging and motivating National Geographic video lessons increase students’ familiarity with the listening task types.
- A Language Resource Bank provides a comprehensive grammar reference and practice exercises covering all the grammar needed for the test.
- Full practice test

Spotlight on First and Spotlight on Advanced
Spotlight on First: Jon Naunton, John Hughes
Spotlight on Advanced: Francesca Mansfield, Carol Nuttall and Language Testing 123

UPPER INTERMEDIATE AND ADVANCED | CEFR B2 and C1 | 2 levels

The Spotlight Series for First and Advanced is a fully comprehensive course that has been revised to be in line with the new Cambridge English exam specifications for January 2015. It prepares adults and younger learners to excel in the revised exam.

An exciting feature of the revised edition is the Ideas Generator. Test takers need to generate ideas to pass the Speaking and Writing papers of the exam. The Ideas Generator uses National Geographic videos to stimulate students’ interest in common exam topics, helps them build ideas about these topics and gathers the language they need to effectively write or speak about them. After each video lesson students will have a bank of ideas, functional language and vocabulary tied to eight topics that commonly appear in the exam.

8 TIPS ON HOW TO GET YOUR STUDENTS READING – AND ENJOYING IT!

1. Make sure there is a variety of titles and genres on offer. Don't forget that non-fiction and informational titles might appeal to some sections of your students. Whatever students are reading – whether it's a magazine, an instruction manual or a comic – if they want to read it – then it is a good thing!

2. Give students the freedom to choose what they read – if they read something that they've chosen they are more likely to enjoy it. Why not make a small library for your class (or organise a class visit to the school library) and encourage them to pick a title to read a week?

3. If you are reading something as a class - always make sure what they are reading is well within they're language level. Stopping to check vocabulary can interrupt the flow of reading and the enjoyment of the story.

4. Allocate at least 10 minutes a week to reading (20 minutes is even better!) for:
   - Quiet independent reading time
   - Reading aloud to the class
   - Running a weekly book club
   - Getting the students to say a few words about the book they have read that week – recap the story, if they liked it and if they would recommend it to other students.
   - Encourage students to talk to their friends about their favourite read

5. Keep a chart of class reading achievements and award stars for progress. Remember to make sure everyone gets encouraged – think of different categories to reward eg 'Best Improver' or 'Science Fiction Fiend' or 'Literature Lover' etc.

6. Give your students positive reading role models. Show them what you are reading and tell them a bit about it. Involve parents in the students’ reading and encourage them to read at home.

7. Make sure you differentiate between reading for comprehension that you might do in class and reading for enjoyment

8. Make a ‘reading area’ in your classroom with some cushions or comfy seats.

WHY IS READING SO IMPORTANT?

- Studies have shown that students who read extensively for their own enjoyment both in and out of the class not only have higher vocabulary and fluency but do better in all subjects against national standards.
- Reading extensively offers an antidote to small granular bits of information that are so prevalent in social media.
- Creating a reading habit early on can open up a world of enjoyment for your students for life.

The moon is Earth’s only natural satellite and the only extra-terrestrial body humans have visited. With gravity six times less strong than that on Earth, astronauts can take giant leaps on its surface as if weightless. Unlike Earth, the moon doesn’t have an atmosphere, however, water has been found at both poles - deposited from comets impacting onto its surface.
